A Leather Portfolio for Every Maker

"...something that is beautiful to behold, feel and touch, and then be functional in daily use makes a truly wonderful and fulfilling piece of art...we take pride in the quality of our hand-made pieces knowing they should give a lifetime of beauty and use."

 This beautiful handmade leather maker's portfolio is the toolcase to end all toolcases. There are slots for double-pointed needles, crochet hooks and straight needles, pouches for circular needles, two interior pockets for all your notions, a slot for a pen, a mini notebook and an exterior slot for full-sized patterns, all secured by a Michigan cherry wood spine. Using the best leather from the Midwest, craftsman and designer Ted Gilmer has a way of touching the past with his timeless leather pieces. The cover snap is covered with a Lake Michigan stone. Please keep in mind that these portfolios are each made by hand. They will vary slightly from piece to piece, from the coloring of the leather to the stone on the cover—slight imperfections are natural when it comes to handcrafted goods.

February 22-24th

We're counting down the days until our Wintry Weekend with Marie Greene and Rachel Lundstrom of Six and Seven Fiber--it's just two weeks away! We've got so many lovely things planned--it's hard for us to keep our secrets. Rachel is bringing SO much yarn with her (in fact, she's already sent some to make some room in her studio!) and we've already read our advance copy of Marie's book--it's even better than we imagined. The entire weekend that will be jam-packed with wintry celebration: fresh, new patterns for the modern knitter, jawdropping handpainted yarns and a chance for wooly communion with makers, near and far.

Can't join us? We'll have a little something special online for our faraway friends throughout the weekend, too. Stay tuned--we'll be talking much more about the weekend in the coming days.
