Hello, friends!

One last reminder to let you know that this Friday is our annual Memorial Day weekend celebration here at Wool & Honey. It's our 12th year in business and marks my six-year anniversary! Hard to believe. And just like all celebrations (big or small), we're celebrating with friends, treats, wine and some very special yarn. We're having a trunk show on Friday, May 25th from 5-9 pm and Saturday, May 26th from 10 am-12 pm where you'll get to meet Jill June, the woman behind the beautiful Studio June yarn, handdyed in Kalamazoo. We're so thrilled to include Jill in our annual celebration!

You know how I mentioned last week about a special surprise that will be available on Friday night only? Attached to the bottom of this email is a coupon detailing that surprise....and it has to do with winning FREE prizes! Read more below....

Looking so forward to celebrating with you this weekend, friends! We should also mention that our very first order of Madelinetosh Tosh Merino Light will be here this afternoon--in 40 gorgeous, hand-dyed shades of fingering weight yarn. (Perfect for summery shawls, lightweight sweaters and even baby sweaters--TML is superwash Merino!) This weekend would be the perfect chance to see this incredibly sought-after yarn for the first time at Wool & Honey. Don't miss out on a weekend full of hand-dyed yarn--it's going to be wonderful!

STUDIO JUNE TRUNK SHOW: TAKE A PEEK AT SOMETHING NEW

FRIDAY, MAY 25TH

5-9 pm

SATURDAY, MAY 26th

10 am-12 pm

Studio June Yarn is a one-woman handpainted yarn company based in Kalamazoo. Jill June is the artist behind the magic and her yarns range from lace to fingering to worsted weight in a rainbow of hues. Whether it's a lace weight yarn in tone-on-tone shades of light lavender (think silk and alpaca) or a variegated sock yarn in a sturdy-yet-sumptuous cashmere blend, Jill's color palette includes something for every knitter. Studio June yarn is available only from a handful of yarn shops around the country-- this is a one-of-a-kind event.

Help us kick off the first weekend of summer with some beautiful new yarn!
